Marie Clay, FRSNZ, FNZPsS, FNZEI(Hon), Emeritus Professor, taught in primary schools and then at the University of Auckland where, for the next 30 years she introduced educational psychologists to ways of preventing psychological problems. She did post-graduate study in Developmental Psychology at the University of Minnesota on a Fulbright Scholarship and completed her doctorate at the University of Auckland with a thesis entitled "Emergent Literacy." Her 'Reading (and writing) Recovery' is an early literacy intervention, which is now implemented in five countries, and three languages. Literacy Lessons Designed For Individuals integrates what has been learned from that innovation with new research and theoretical advocacies. Shifts in early literacy learning can be monitored by teachers using her Observation Survey of Early Literacy Achievement in English, Spanish and French. A series of individual lessons can be delivered in those languages to about 150,000 children worldwide annually using a guidebook called Reading Recovery: Guidelines for Teachers in Training. Literacy Lessons Designed for Individuals is a similar guidebook which aims to make accelerated progress possible for a wider range of problems. Marie Clay was past-President of the International Reading Association, served on the editorial committees of professional journals, was a research consultant at home and abroad including UNESCO, chaired a Social Science Research Committee advising government on policies and research allocations, and worked internationally with problem-solving related to early intervention research and practice.

This is such a unique book. I am in school to become a teacher and I love doing the Clay Assessments with students. It is so interesting to see what they pick up on. If the book looks like it is printed wrong, it is supposed to look like that!

One of the pages was upside down in the book.

This is my favorite of the Marie Clay stories used to assess a student's concepts of print. My students found the assessment fun, and I found it easy to use and informative.

Follow me moon met my approval

Awesome book for classroom! I use it to test individuals' reading skills! :) Easy read, and I love it! Great rates, and fast shipping!

Thank you very much. I like it very much. It is very important to me, so I feel happy to get it.

Perfect!

This book is great for any teacher that is learning literacy and learning the concepts of teaching literacy!
