Customer Reviews

I kind of wish they weren't so big and thick that they required extra postage, but that's my only complaint. The prints are gorgeous; the pictures online really don't do the vibrant colors justice. All 30 cards are unique, so there aren't any duplicates. I bought them for Postcrossing and they're so lovely that it's been kind of hard to part with each of them, but that only amplifies the feeling that I really got my money's worth for these. Yay!

One of the best postcard collections I have purchased in the past year or so. I love the large size and the clarity in the print. The art is so beautiful too! I am an avid postcard writer and I am looking for variety cuz sometimes my recipients are the same people... otherwise I'd buy three of this again.

Beautiful images that are lesser-known - I particularly liked the series of songbirds with flowers. If you're intending to send them in the US with postcard stamps, however, be aware that they are larger than standard postcard size, so require full letter postage.

Lovely set, wish it had more of the classics, like Hokusai or some kabuki prints.

These postcards are absolutely stunning! I love all of them, and am especially fond of how many bird woodblock paintings that have been included in the collection. The cards are large, made from high-quality card stock that can endure even the worst postal service calamities, and the photos are beautiful. I am in love with this product!

Beautiful wood cuts. They aren't all the same orientation. 5-6 are landscape and the rest are portrait.

This is a nice variety of Japanese Woodblock postcards. They aren't all the same ones that you see over and over again. Also they are on high quality paper stock.

I enjoyed these well made cards and learned something in the process.
