2017 This Day In Women's History Boxed Calendar: 365 Remarkable Ways Women Changed The World

Synopsis

From Joan of Arc to Malala Yousafzai, this calendar takes a deeper look at how women have changed the world throughout history; those behind the scenes centuries ago, and many right out in the open today! A testament to the strong female role models and maybe even a few more infamous than famous. Discover what they did, how they changed the world, and decide for yourself what their impact on history really is.

Customer Reviews

I was disappointed by this calendar for a couple reasons: I disagree with what is included as significant to women's history. For example, January 14 has "On this day...1954: Marilyn Monroe married Joe DiMaggio." Come on...what makes this date significant is that she got married to a famous baseball player?! I bought this calendar in the hopes that it would inspire me and my daughter with examples of women that have been trailblazers throughout history. I am hopeful that I will see more examples of those entries instead of ones like the Marilyn Monroe example. My second (and lesser) reason for being disappointed is that I thought the calendar would have pictures on at least some of the pages and there are none.

So far I have been pretty disappointed with this product. The large majority of the days are filled with "So and so was born on this day" or "so and so died on this day." So much so that when I reach a day that states something other than being born and dying (Such as today's: Dame Millicent Garrett Fawcett led England's first national suffrage demonstration, I get excited. While on the "death and birth" days it still details the good that the woman did, I find it hard to believe that it's so difficult to find actionable items for more days. I regret purchasing this item.

I love the size and the idea of this!! I bought this for my desk at work, my only complaint is that I wish there were more colors on the pages, or pictures! Perfect size for a work desk, makes a great gift!

While the calendar is full of historical and phenomenal women, I expected highlights of more current women. So far, 1st Lady Michelle Obama is the only recent woman highlighted.

I am enjoying the history that is included.

As other reviews have mentioned it is not inspiring in the least and is at best a regurgitation of birth, marriage, death timelines. Today, March 17th, is the worst so far - in 1905 Eleanor Roosevelt married Franklin D. Roosevelt. There is no mention of Eleanor Roosevelt's advocacy or inspirational work with women and children, but instead the text concludes: "Despite infidelity on her husband's part, the Roosevelts remained married but independent and no longer intimate. He allegedly continued affairs with Lucy Mercer, the first lady's social secretary, and others while he served as president of the United States." This is not a reflection of remarkable ways women changed the world.
