Customer Reviews

"A Woman's Way Through Unknown Labrador is worthy of the same attention given to prominent exploration and travel writers on the Canadian North and should be recognized as part of the cannon of Victorian travel-writing and women's autobiography. Grace's introduction is beautifully written, and provides an impressive discussion of Hubbard's photographs and a wonderful analysis of the text, acting simultaneously as a map for readers entering the volume for the first time and a reflective discussion for readers already familiar with it." Carolyn Podruchny, History, Western Michigan University --This text refers to an out of print or unavailable edition of this title.

Sherrill E. Grace is professor, English, University of British Columbia, and the author of Inventing Tom Thomson and Canada and the Idea of North. She is currently working as a consultant on a film about Mina Benson Hubbard. --This text refers to an out of print or unavailable edition of this title.

Read The Lure of the Labrador Wild first, then Great Heart, then A Woman's Way Through Unknown Labrador, in that order. Fabulous true stories all of them. Labrador from three different viewpoints, all compelling.

Awesome book! One of my favorites. Great story of one tough woman in the day when ladies didn't usually canoe through unknown wilderness.
