German Architecture Annual 2014/15

Synopsis

The latest volume in this annual series of outstanding architectural projects profiles the most innovative buildings in Germany and by German architects. This edition of the well-established DAM series of architecture annuals offers a close examination of the winning project – a primary school in Munich that ingeniously blends an urban housing development for the whole community with an optimal learning environment for students. Highly adaptive and welcoming, it exemplifies the best practices of sustainability and visionary design. This volume also explores other selected projects either built in Germany or by German architects.
