Lonely Planet Santa Fe, Taos & Albuquerque

Synopsis

Discover Santa Fe, Taos and Albuquerque. Wipe grilled buffalo from your chops and watch lizards scurry up 1000-year-old adobe at Taos Pueblo. Align your chakras at Ojo Caliente Mineral Springs, where stressed-out Pueblo Indians soaked for millennia. Play 'Name That Georgia O'Keeffe Painting' and re-enact scenes from City Slickers in Abiquiu. Admire your new turquoise bracelet glinting in the sun as you search for deals on cow skulls in Albuquerque. In This Guide: One local Albuquerque author, 420 hours of on-the-ground research, 38 detailed maps, a bounty of opinionated reviews. Special road-trip chapter with jaunts to Route 66, Carlsbad Caverns, alien-crazy Roswell, ghost towns and open highway.

Best for curious and independent-minded travelers' --Wall Street Journal

Who We Are At Lonely Planet, we see our job as inspiring and enabling travellers to connect with the world for their own benefit and for the benefit of the world at large. What We Do * We offer travellers the world's richest travel advice, informed by the collective wisdom of over 350 Lonely Planet authors living in 37 countries and fluent in 70 languages. * We are relentless in finding the special, the unique and the different for travellers wherever they are. * When we update our guidebooks, we check every listing, in person, every time. * We always offer the trusted filter for those who are curious, open minded and independent. * We challenge our growing community of travellers; leading debate and discussion about travel and the world. * We tell it like it is without fear or favor in service of the travellers; not clouded by any other motive. What We Believe We believe that travel leads to a deeper cultural understanding and compassion and therefore a better world.

This book was great! My grandmother, mother and I used it every day during our trip to New Mexico. I would definitely recommend it to anyone traveling to the area. The maps were comprehensive for city streets but also for travel on the highways between these 3 cities. Lonely Planet has never disappointed me!

Lonely Planet is the best travel guide there is. I have used it in the Americas and Europe.

excellent resource book for upcoming Balloon Festival

A mine of useful information for our vacation planning. Our book was used and in excellent condition, exactly as described. I'd buy here again. Recommended.

We were staying with a local in Taos whose restaurant reviews for the area echoed the ones in the book. One of the restaurant listings even mentioned the exact dish she always get at that locale (Tres Colores). One addition - try to make happy hour at The Alley (the oldest building in town, used to be a trading post) which is just steps off the plaza (where they have free concerts on Thursday nights in the summer) for some really incredible (and cheap) margaritas. We didn't go wrong with the restaurant or tourist attraction recommendations in Albuquerque either. I thought this was a GREAT guide!

Excellent condition .The book from lonely planet on Santa Fe is very informative and meet my expectations both in quality and condition.

We were heading to Northern New Mexico for the first time and this book helped us plan our trip for maximum enjoyment. What an amazing area!
