Great calendar thank you !!!

This is our second year with a Jeopardy calendar. Someone reads the question every night at dinner, and we all guess at the answer. Some are easy, some are just silly, and some lead to fun discussions. (Who knew, for instance, that there's a ballet featuring the music of the Beach Boys?) Fun.

I really like the Jeopardy Calendar and buy one every year. In 2014 I noticed the answer (question) was clearly visible on the front page. So if one is good at reading backwards one could read the answer. A simple solution would be to print the answer (question) on the other side of the word "Jeopardy". Our 2015 copy is likewise, so I put a line through it on each page. I know my husband would never cheat though.

I really enjoy watching Jeopardy! on television with my husband, and this is just a little extra dose of fun each day!

I'm really enjoying this calendar - I compete every week and I learn more when i don't know the answer. My only complaint is that I've used the reverse side of page-a-day calendars for notepaper - can't do that with these because the answer is printed right in the middle of the page. If it were moved to the edge, I could use the past days sheets for scratch paper. As it is I just throw them in the recycle bin.

If you love Jeopardy and you love changing a calendar date every day then this product is going to absolutely blow your mind! If you just love Jeopardy and a 30 second distraction at work every day, then this will merely provide satisfaction and a bit of joy to your day. My husband and I each have one, and quiz each other every night, asking whether or not we knew the answer. It's our prelude to the show, which we DVR every night.

I am looking forward to challenging myself to a bit of trivia each day this year. My only complaint is that the glue holding all the pages together split apart in the back, around December. Fortunately the calendar has a hard piece on the bottom that will hold the calendar where it needs to be but was still disappointed that it broke. No pages were lost by this and I will still enjoy this calendar all year long.

This item has been a tradition in our family for many years. We start the mornings with Jeopardy and look forward to the challenging questions each day. We also maintain a daily count of our answers and see who wins at the end of each year. The categories and questions continue to be fair and meet our expectations! Thanks to those who compile the questions! That, in itself, is a real test! Keep up the good work!
